Our people

In respect of all our employees, at CaixaBank, we believe everyone has a right to be treated with dignity and respect and to work in a safe and supportive environment. This is evidenced by the Equal Opportunities Policy, the Ethics Policy, the Anti-Harassment and Bullying Policy and the Health and Safety policy. In particular for CaixaBank's branch in the UK, these are laid down in an employee handbook for such employees and for all other employees, such policies are directly applicable with further protections provided under the law of the relevant jurisdiction.

We are committed to creating an open and transparent culture and encourage all employees to act responsibly and speak up when they believe their rights have been infringed, for example by using the Anti-Harassment and Bullying Policy or the Grievance Policy.

We have put policies in place that set out the values and behaviours we expect everyone to demonstrate, which helps our organisation and employees to comply with regulatory conduct requirements.

We make sure we reward our employees fairly and appropriately for the role they are doing whilst rejecting any type of discrimination.

Strategy and Due Diligence

CaixaBank expects our suppliers to adopt the same high standards that we adhere to and have fair employment practices. These standards are reflected in the policies we generally share with our suppliers and ask them to commit to as part of a tender process. CaixaBank is willing to ensure that suppliers with whom they have contractual relationships respect the Supplier Code of Conduct. It is mandatory for suppliers to adhere. Guidelines of conduct are defined in the Supplier Code of Conduct that the companies working as suppliers will follow in relation to complying with prevailing legislation, ethical behaviour and measures against bribery and corruption, safety and the environment and confidentiality. The Supplier Code of Conduct is available to suppliers in our supplier portal.

CaixaBank is able to audit and carry out performance evaluations of a supplier in order to ensure that the processes, supplied products and services match the requirements, while determining the controls to apply, where applicable. Non-compliance with the content of the Supplier Code of Conduct may be the reason for the contractual relationships with any supplier being terminated early.

The objective of our strategy and due diligence procedure is to equip CaixaBank to be able to mitigate potential risks throughout the supplier engagement lifecycle from on-boarding through to performance improvement, gain further visibility into our supply chain and to enable regular review of our data sets and risk register. It additionally ensures the continuous improvement of our approach to supply chain risk management.

Assessing and Managing Risk

CaixaBank has developed a risk identification and due diligence process for human rights within the framework of the corporate Human Rights Policy. CaixaBank conducted a human rights due diligence process in the first half of 2020, this was followed by an assessment process to update the due diligence and give it greater depth and scope.

In respect of the risk assessment and due diligence as regards human rights procedure, CaixaBank's starting point is to identify risk events and potential human rights violations when it comes to CaixaBank's responsibility with employees and suppliers, as a provider of financial services and as an integral part of the community. Secondly, CaixaBank builds a risks map with regard to human rights for each area, taking into account CaixaBank's current situation. CaixaBank follows the relevant criteria for assessing probability (sector and control environment at CaixaBank), impact (CaixaBank's involvement, magnitude of the damage or reversibility) and severity (after analysing the impact and probability variables). Finally, CaixaBank verifies the due diligence processes and elements established by CaixaBank to prevent and mitigate the potential risks flagged on the risks map.

More details regarding the risk identification and due diligence process can be examined in the Summary of the human rights' due diligence and risk assessment.
